HIGH HONOR - Felix Matula, Scoutmaster of Troop 752, views the District Award of Merit presented to him at the Boy Scout Recognition Banquet held Monday evening at Rockdale. The award is the highest volunteer award given at the district level. Matula, Scoutmaster since 1954, has 38 boys in his present troop and estimates he has worked with about 400 boys over his 20 years in Scouting.

AS THE COMPOSITE IS

Baylor's Tom Parrish, vice president of development at the Waco campus, told a Scout group the other night that one thing he rabidly opposed was Nazism, a force in the 20th century contrary in about 11 ways to what Scouting stands for, what civilization represents.

His talk was substantially technical about the problems of Scout organization, leadership and fund raising when he jumped into the subject of uncivilization as a closer. He cited four elements which Scouting represents and which assure a civilized person: mental, physical, social and spiritual development.

Discussion of Scouting as a movement of civilization counter to untamed natural man (which caused Parrish to cite Calvinist fears of "natural man") is a new slant on an established movement.

And when he brings in the civilized aspects of Scouting, he is going beyond man or boy communing with nature or going on canoe trips. He is talking about dealing with nature on man's terms and trying to bring both into harmony.

That is a very adult and complex business, the business of Scouting in a civilized manner. It is more than keeping the Scout image. It is taking Scout civilization into confrontation with the problems around us, which is beyond Eagle Scout prep work.

Sometime a Scout is faced with alternatives not in the handbook. One is bad, the next is worse. He is trained to deal with good, better and best, though he is trained to "be prepared."

Mr. Parrish touches on what all institutions should be doing: learning to deal positively in an often negative world, not trying to draw bits of it into a canned environment.

If we understood a mature and provocative view of Scouting, he tells Scouting to deal with nature and man as the composite is. Now.

Police To Enforce Fireworks Ordinance

The police department announces it will enforce the city's ordinance against shooting fireworks within the city limits. Fireworks may be purchased within the city, but residents will have to get out of town to fire them off.

The ordinance provides for a fine of not less than $1 nor more than $100 for violations.

Good wishes for the holiday season are extended by the Cameron Police Department, spoken by Police Chief Felipe Martinez.

He reminds all motorists to drive carefully during the holiday season to avoid accidents.

Martinez also reminds shoppers to lock their cars to avoid theft of Chrstmas gifts from parked cars.

Matula Receives Award Of Merit For Scout Work

Felix Matula of Cameron, longtime Boy Scout leader, was presented the Tejas District Award of Merit at the Boy Scout Recognition banquet held Monday evening at Rockdale.

The award, first given in 1972 to activities chairman Jimmy Greene is the highest volunteer award given at the district level. The Boy Scout Executive Council made this award available to individuals "who have given their time, talents and effort unselfishly for the promotion and advancement of Scouting."

Matula is scoutmaster for Troop 752 of Cameron, one of the most active troops in the Tejas District.

Jim Carter was master of ceremonies at the banquet, which included presentation of Governor's Citations to Matula, William Korener, Scoutmaster of Rockdale; and Ernest Moore, Scoutmaster of Cameron.

Cub Scout packs and Boy Scout troops were commended for recruiting a total of 68 new members during the past year.

Guest speaker was Tom Parrish, Baylor University vice president in charge of development. He spoke on the need for professional Scouting leaders.

Round-up awards were presented by Allen Dodson and press awards presented by Bill Henry. Other awards were given by J. H. Greene.

The banquet is an annual affair recognizing the efforts of den mothers, unit leaders, institutional representatives, unit committee members, and district committee members.

New Wells Drilling

By Lloyd Albertson

Three wells are drilled and locations staked for a fourth wildcat in Milam County's new Pemberton-Navarro oil field, opened only about six weeks ago.

The field is located approximately three miles northeast of Milano. All of the drilling so far has been on a lease owned by Mrs. Willie Lorene Batte and Lelia Lee Batte Hickman in the Gilliland Survey. United Production Company of Houston is drilling the tests. The company opened the field in late October with its discovery well, its No. 1 Batte.

Since then United Productions has drilled its No. 2 Batte, its confirmation try, and also completed a third well, believed to be its No. 3. Drillsite for the No. 2 is located 952 feet north of the No. 1 Batte. The third well completed and the fourth wildcat are spaced about the same distance apart. Location of the new wildcat is across a road from the three other tests.

Storage tanks have been moved on to the lease, but reportedly the wells that have been drilled are waiting on pumps to be installed. Potential test has not yet been run, so their production is not known.

"Slumber - jay" -- electronic logging -- operations were under way on the recently drilled wells late last week, and sidewall cores also were taken, it is believed.

No information is available about these tests. However, information released about the No. 1 Batte showed that electric log and sidewall core tests indicated 20 feet of oil saturation in the Navarro C sand between 2,675 and 2,704 feet. The No. 2 Batte was permitted to 3,500 feet and plans were for it to test both the Navarro "C" sand and the Nacatoch formation below it.

The Batte lease is part of a 7,200 acre lease block in that area which Wayne C. Pemberton, Houston oil and lease man, has assembled recently and transferred to United Production Company for development. Pemberton is a native of Milam County and operated a tire repair shop and worked in the post office in Cameron before entering the oil lease game and moving to Houston about twenty years ago. He is well known here and has done considerable leasing in the area over the years, resulting in a good deal of benefit to the Milam economy.

Council Awards Paving Bid, Contractor To Finish Streets

Low bid for paving Cameron streets in the downtown area was awarded to Bandas Industries Tuesday evening by the city council, with paving to start shortly, after the base work is completed by the paving contractor.

The action came at a regular meeting of the council, and that was the low bid at $1.12 per square yard of three submitted.

Other bids opened included those on a new dump truck, a new cab and chassis for a dump truck, and a front end loader. Low bid for the trucks was awarded to Hefley Stedman Motor Co. and the front end loader bids will be studied by two councilmen and Streets Supt. Jim Hale before bid is awarded.

In other action, council approved a special use permit for Robert Mathis for placing a mobile home and heard the second reading of a new ordinance allowing TP&L to raise electric rates 10 percent effective with March billing.

It was decided that city employees will have Monday and Tuesday off for Christmas and New Year's holidays, with Monday garbage pickup to be done the Saturday before the holidays.

Councilman Bob Clark had John Henderson, treasurer of the Cameron Day Care Center, appear to answer questions about the center. The city had voted at its last meeting to provide $150 per month out of revenue sharing funds to the center.

Henderson explained eligibility, financing, and other details about the operation of the center.

A. W. McCullin, urban renewal executive director, reported that inspections had been made recently of the city's project by a Housing and Urban Development engineer and also by the consulting engineer, who both were complimentary of the project. McCullin also explained about storm drains.

Mayor Gene Blake recommended that two aerial maps of the city be purchased, one for hanging in city hall and the other for city code inspector Edwin Bigbee's office. Council approved the proposal.

Fire Chief Monroe Bruedigan reported that the new fire truck for fighting grass and brush fires would be ready on December 15, and he is getting specifications ready for ordering a new fire truck.

Police Sgt. Ken Butler asked if an ordinance could be passed governing the washing down of filling station areas, that the water presented a hazard on the streets. City Atty. Ed Magre told he believed there is a state law prohibiting such washing unless the waste water flows into the city sewer system. He said he would check into the law and report to Butler.

The question of selling fireworks came up and it was pointed out that while the city has an ordinance against shooting fireworks in the city, there is no law prohibiting the sale of fireworks in the city.

Dr. Richardson Named To National Group

KANSAS CITY, Mo.

Sidney H. Richardson, M. D. from Cameron has been elected to active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians , a national association of more than 34,000 family doctors. The Academy formerly was called the American Academy of General Practice.

As a member of AAFP, Dr. Richardson will be required to complete 150 hours of continuing medical study every three years. The program, unique among national medical associations, is designed to help member physicians keep abreast of the latest scientific developments in medicine.

Founding in 1947, the AAFP is the country's second largest national medical association. It was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary specialty in family practice in 1969. The Academy's continuing education program is the foundation of eligibility for family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.

Trial Recessed To Summon More Jurors

The trial in 20th District Court of Norris Eugene Moss failed to get underway Tuesday when a lack of prospective jurors necessitated a recess.

Moss is charged with assault with intent to murder in a case that started April 14, 1973, when he allegedly attempted to rob the W. C. Keith's outside Keith's Minimax. He reportedly held a pistol to Mrs. Keith's head and when she screamed Keith came around his pickup with a pistol. According to police accounts, Moss shot at Keith and missed, and Keith shot Moss in the shoulder.

Felony charges were filed and Moss 24, of Houston was indicted May 1.

District Judge W. C. Wallace, presiding in the case, said Tuesday afternoon that the case was recessed until Wednesday in order to summon additional jurors from the jury wheel.

Kubiak Says He Won't Run Against Poage

One potential challenger for Cong. W. R. "Bob" Poage's 11th Congressional District seat is taking himself out of the picture -- at least for now.

Rockdale Rep. Dan Kubiak said Monday he will not seek the post held for 36 years by the congressman from Waco, as long as Poage continues to run.

But, should Poage step down, Kubiak said he will immediately file.

Kubiak, who is chairman of the House Education Committee and in his third term, said he had been eyeing the post but just before Thanksgiving Poage told an informal gathering in Marlin that he would seek re-election.

Poage recently filed a statement with the Secretary of State designating J. Marvin Leath of Marlin as his campaign manager for a re-election bid.

ASAP Plans Portable Breath Test Program

The Central Texas Council of Government's Alcohol Safety Action Project has begun field testing and evaluation of portable breath testing instruments.

Testing will begin in the Temple Police Department December 1, and will be used all over the seven county region, including Milam, before the test period is completed. The Killeen Police Department began the pilot testing November 23.

Completely portable, the automatic alcohol breath testers are being used by members of ASAP's Alcohol Detection and Control teams.

During the field test period, the officers will be keeping complete records to indicate not only the effectiveness and reliability of the instruments, but also to measure acceptance by both officers and the public.

ASAP officials anticipate approximate 30 day testing periods in each department.

The instruments, created by the Alcohol Countermeasurers Systems of Borg-Warner Corporation, are about the size of a cigar box. Test results are indicated by lights on a pass-warn-fail basis. The instruments operate on rechargable batteries, making them practical for field use.

One objective of the field test will be to help determine future use of the instruments as a possible aid in making DWI arrests. Use of the instruments during field tests will be by ASAP law enforcement personnel, with training and rotation directed by ASAP Law Enforcement Coordinator, Ed Jarratt.

Rockdale Man Arrested For Sign Destruction

DPS Patrolmen made one arrest for tearing down highway signs and investigated a one-truck accident over the weekend.

Billy Pearson of Rockdale was arrested and charged in Justice of the Peace Leonard Allen's court in Rockdale with the destruction of a number of highway signs on FM 487 between Davilla and Rockdale Friday night.

The signs were knocked down by Pearson's car.

Pearson was released on his own personal recognizance after bond was set at $5,000.

Patrolmen Milton Wright and Leroy Broadus investigated the incident and made the arrest.

Patrolmen reported a one-vehicle accident about 9 Sunday night when a pickup pulling a trailer missed a curve and went into a ditch in a construction area about five miles west of Hearne on Highway 79.

Driver of the truck was Tony Buzqn of Thorndale, who sustained minor injuries. The truck burned but the trailer did not.

WHY ME? appears to be the thought reflected on Momma Dog Dandelion's face as she poses with her 12 scrambling, tumbling puppies at the Bob Elletts house. The 'Bakers Dozen' of dog and puppies are a big crowd even for their over-sized dog house, but the Elletts hope the cuddly pups will be on enought children's Christmas lists to make their pet population manageable again.

Finding Confidence...

A schizoid market is creating an aura of recession talk in this country.

Plain truth is the current market decline is seen not only by experts but investors as temporary but the bottoming to normal early 1973 standards in 1974, if not higher.

This country has a case of the jitters, because of Watergate, energy problems. Fear of further major declines ignore the fact that balance of payments is restored in U. S. favor, that agriculture despite fuel or fertilizer shortage has formed bottomless world and domestic markets to be filled at better prices, that Arab power oil ploy is shortlived as the erratic Middle Easterners break for markets.

For the time people are finding relief in problems outside of Washington politics, which in part are the problem.

But these jitters are nervous trails to a rallying power in a country wanting to rally.

If Washington won't provide leadership, response to economic and energy crises, problems we can grasp, will compel leadership, new responses.

It is in us. After the doomsdayers' have spoken, the rest of us, including the queasy investers will find new confidence.

We still have it in us. It is a time that we shall decide "we are they", the ones who can do the job.

Rationing 50-50 Chance...

Undersecretary of the Interior John Whitaker told a Texas Farm Bureau convention that gas rationing is a 50-50 possibility.

He told Farm Bureau leaders in Abilene a combination of factors brings up the prospect:

ONE -- Environmentalists

TWO -- Lack of long-range planning

THREE -- Arab oil boycott

Some kind of rationing is quite likely, on the short term, until imports from new sources or Arab countries (only about 5 percent here) are alternative means, a longer problem, are developed.

Just about everyone except the general public knew this was coming up. No one specifically anticipated the recent Arab-Israeli War, but the almost irrational atmosphere among Arab League leadership assured the supply there is in whimsical hands. It happens to be 53 percent of the world's known supply of oil.

Even after opening up Alaska's new fields, the U. S. and North America have only about 5 percent of the world supply. This is why President Nixon is asking energy independence by 1980.

Whitaker was not trying to lay blame, but trying to explain the extent of the problem to the Texas farm organization.

The boom-or-bust agriculture condition is only hyped up more by dependence on petroleum products, like every industry in the country.

Agriculture is given the same 50-50 chance of rationing, which will affect production and prices once again.

Governor's Proposals Aim At Conserving Energy

Gov. Dolph Briscoe called for a 55 mph speed limit, an hour-shorter school day, 68 degree heating thermostat settings, carpools, driving curtailment and elimination of night football.

The proposals were part of the governor's 90-day emergency program to conserve energy.

He said he hopes to cut gasoline consumption by 20 per cent through the speed reduction, carpooling and cutting down on nonessential trips.

The governor also hopes for a similar saving in fuel use for homes and offices through 68 degree winter temperatures (78 degrees for cooling), switching off all unnecessary lights and darkening displays and advertising signs after midnight.

He termed his program "a minimum response that all of us must take . . .We are asking only for the elimination of luxuries and frills."

While he "deliberately avoided" specific recommendations for industry, Briscoe made clear he will expect industry to "do its share, no less than the rest of us."

He asked the State Highway Commission to "consider the statewide speed limit questions immediately and make a determination under its existing authority."

The commission scheduled a Tuesday meeting at Texas A&M University in College Station to consider the 55 mph proposal. Department of Public Safety Director Wilson E. Speir said the reduced limit will be difficult to enforce, but his men will "do their best."

Briscoe's plan calls for an end of the school day at 2:30 p.m. January-March, unless nationwide Daylight Saving Time is ordered. In that event, let-out time would be 3:30 p.m.

GAS SOURCE STUDIED — A University of Texas professor told Texas Water Quality Board that gas from decomposition of sewage can supply up to two-thirds of the power necessary to operate sewage plants.

Dean Ernest Gloyna recalled that sludge gas use is nothing new.

The board agreed to spend $5,000 for a study to determine practicality of such usage now and to evaluate new techniques of producing sewer gas. Several U.S. projects are operating, but most advanced ones are in Europe (chiefly Germany).

Gloyna said decomposing sewage sludges produce gas which is 70 per cent methane and 30 per cent carbon dioxide. He said a city of 40,000 could recover enough gas from its sewage plants daily to replace 200 to 300 gallons of gasoline.

COTTON STALK DEADLINE EXTENDED IN EAST TEXAS — Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has extended the November 30 deadline for cotton stalk destruction in 45 East Texas counties with unharvested acreage.

The area covered is bounded by Hood, Panola, Newton and Burnet counties. Destruction of the stalks is aimed at destroying cotton insects. White noted heavy infestations of pink bollworms and boll weevils in Rio Grande Valley and Upper Coast fields.

White urged farmers to get their crops in as soon as possible and to plow stalks under promptly.

DECEMBER HIGHWAY BIDS POSTPONED — A cloudy fuel supply situation forced postponement of the December highway bid lettings.

Bids were to have been opened December 5-6 on 33 projects. Contractors, according to State Highway Engineer Luther DeBerry, cannot get firm commitments on the facility, which the court classified as a "trailer."

AG OPINION — An audit report on a child care center for a governmental body is public information under the open records law, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

*The Board of Pardons and Paroles is not required to make public all information in its files about an inmate on the inmate's demand.

*Juvenile delinquents can be assigned to state training schools of the Texas Youth Council on a coeducational basis.

*An automatically-resigned justice of the peace may receive a salary for the period during which he was holding over awaiting appointment of his successor.

*The State Board of Control may purchase liability insurance for officers and employees arising out of power lawn mower and edger operation around the capitol.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Some people are saying, look, even if we get by this year and next year and even a few more years, everybody knows that sooner or later the oil inside the earth is going to play out and then what are we going to do? Can you imagine a world without our automobiles? How can the modern world survive without oil?

I certainly don't have the answer but I'll bet somebody will figure out a substitute, on account of the nature of the human animal. When a problem arises, somebody eventually figures out an answer, excusing Washington.

Take a minor problem, more or less, I read in a newspaper last night during an unexplained gap in a taped T. V. show that big cities are plagued by false fire alarms. One city reported that out of 9,013 alarms in one year, 5,329 were false. People see and alarm box and just for the fun of it throw the switch, and the fire department has to respond, wasting an extimated million dollars a year. The only thing the city could think to do was launch an educational campaign to try to get people to stop turning in false alarms. This would be called the Washington approach.

But a musician and an electronics engineer had a better idea. They invented a fool-proof alarm box. It's inside a booth. To sound an alarm you have to go inside and shut the door. When you throw the switch the door locks and you can't get out till the fire department arrives with the key. Best educational device you can imagine.

This reminds me of a fire-department in a small town I know about. Human nature being what it is, when the fire siren went off calling the volunteer firemen to the station, half the towns-people would jump into their cars and follow the engine to the fire, getting in the way of the firemen, running over the hoses, fouling up traffic, etc. So the town passed a stiff ordinance against it, but people kept on chasing the fire engine.

Instead of locking up two-thirds of the town for violating the law, the fire department hit on an idea. It bought another fire truck. When a fire broke out and the siren went off, one fireman would jump in the decoy truck and tear off in the wrong direction with the townspeople in hot pursuit. With the way cleared, the other truck went to the fire uninterrupted. When people started catching on and waiting for the second truck, the firemen switched and sent the first one straight to the fire and the other in the wrong direction.

1 You can't change human nature much, but you can out-maneuver it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

UT Day Set At Austin

UT Day for Central Texas high school juniors and seniors interested in attending The University of Texas will be held Dec. 8 on the Austin campus.

Clifton Van Dyke, assistan director of admissions, said UT Day gives prospective students an opportunity to learn about university life from representatives of the student body, faculty and administration.

The program begins at 9 a.m. in Jester Center Auditorium. An introduction on the academic course of study will be presented by Dr. Gerard Moseley, assistant dean of the College of Natural Sciences.

Following his presentation, students can talk with faculty members and representatives of student life. Among the academic areas represented will be psychology, business, music, speech, ethnic studies and geology.

Also participating will be members of the Admissions Office, Measurement and Evaluation Center, Division of Housing and Food Service, Student Financial Aids Office and Orientation.

After the informal session, a tour of the campus will be conducted by student advisers.

Question:
Will you have enough natural gas for your home this winter?

Answer:
Yes!

Let's lay this question to rest once and for all. Lone Star Gas Company has enough natural gas reserves under contract to adequately supply our residential, commercial and other higher priority customers for many winters.

To be sure we have enough for these consumers, we will make some extensive curtailments of service to our large volume customers during extreme cold weather this winter. In fact, our contracts with large volume customers anticipate the need to curtail up to 100% of their needs during these cold periods. This allows us to assure service to residential, commercial and other higher priority customers.

We're taking major steps to make sure you have gas for the future. New gas we're buying costs more than four times the price we paid just a few years ago. This is an astonishing amount of money! But it's the price all of us must pay for a continuing supply of natural gas energy.

This winter, and in the future, natural gas from Lone Star will continue to be your best method of home heating, water heating and cooking... just as it has been for more than 40 years. But we all must remember to help conserve this precious energy fuel.

Graze Small Grains When Well Established

By Bill McCtuchen

Small grains are up and making good growth with good moisture and warm fall temperatures. For maximum production there are several management practices that should be followed.

First, it's a must to withhold grazing until plants are completely established and well rooted. Grazing pastures before plants are 6-8 inches high can reduce total forage production by as much as 50 per cent.

Since small grains do not grow much during cold weather prevalent during December, January and February, care must be used in grazing. Stocking rates should be adjusted to the amount of accumulated growth of small grain pastures.

Small grains should be grazed with livestock of high market value such as stocker calves and dairy animals. Cow-calf operations can also benefit from this use to meet protein and energy requirements of animals. These requirements can be met by grazing for limited periods each day or by grazing every third or fourth day.

Other guidelines for increasing benefits from small grain pastures include:

1. Remove livestock during periods of wet weather.
2. Keep a supply of dry roughage available.
3. Don't overgraze during dry or cold periods as stem terminals may be destroyed.
4. Remove cattle around March 1, on acreages to be harvested.

If grain is to be harvested next spring, additional nitrogen is usually needed as a topdress application. Such applications should be made in late January or February as a topdress application. Such applications should be made in late January or February.

Leaf Rust Severe on Oats

Crown rust or leaf rust is affecting most of the oat acreage in the county. Crown rust is the most destructive disease of oats we have and in severe cases may reduce grain yields to near zero or destroy or reduce the available oat forage for livestock.

The rusts are caused by fungi which enter plant tissues. The organisms grow within the plant tissues and reproduce, forming pustles on the surface in about 10 days. The pustules contain thousands of tiny, orange spores which may be carried to other plants or fields by wind currents. This disease develops most rapidly during warm humid weather accompanied by dews or frequent showers, which describes exactly the weather we have had the last two months.

The fungus causing crown rust is made up of many races. Some races can attack only a few varieties, while others may attack many varieties so the prevalence of races change in accordance with the host varieties grown in the area.

This explains why a variety may be rust resistant for several years and once it is commonly planted in the area may become more susceptable to crown rust.

Growing resistant varieties is the only practical means of controlling crown rust. Some effect fungicides have been developed but are not yet cleared for use on these plants.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

By Rodney Kruse

Christopher Riola, Cameron, won the 1973 County 4-H Swine Management Contest. Kelly Brown, Cameron, placed second and Bill Jones, Gause, placed third.

The Milam County Farm Bureau sponsors this program and furnishes prize money. Christopher will receive $15.00. Kelly will receive $10.00 and Bill will receive $7.00. Henry Richter of Cameron representing the Farm Bureau was the judge.

The three boys were judged on the number of pigs weaned, their litter weights, feeding and management and the records kept on the gilt and litter.

Christoper's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Riola Kelly's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Reeves Brown and Bill's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones, Jr.

Five 4-Hers have received a gilt from the Milam County Farm Bureau. They are Curtis Wise, Lisa Cobb and Donnie Czaplinski from Cameron, Henry A. Townsend from Griffin Chapel and Beverly Jons from Gause.

The 4-H'ers will show their gilts at the Milam County Junior Livestock Show on January 12. The Farm Bureau will furnish prize money for these gilts. In the spring, breeding fees will be paid for by the Farm Bureau. After the five gilts farrow in the fall, one gilt will be returned back to the swine program for another 4-Her.

Curtis' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wazel of Cameron, Lisa's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Derwood Cobb of Cameron, Henry's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Townsend, Jr. of Griffin Chapel, Donnie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Czaplinski of Cameron and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones, Jr. of Gause are Beverly's parents.

Fish Farm Confab Set

Critical issues such as pesticides in surface waters and the feed cost-price squeeze will be discussed at the annual Fish Farming Conference and Annual Convention of the Catfish Farmers of Texas Jan. 3-4 at Texas A&M University.

The program will be conducted in the J. Earl Rudder Conference Tower on the A&M campus, with registration beginning at 8 a.m. on Jan. 3, according to James T. Davis, fisheries specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, which is sponsoring the event. The first session will begin at 10 a.m.

OVERLOOKING an excellent stand of Renner Lovegrass on their farm near Milano are Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Westbrook and their two youngest sons. Shown in the background are round bales of hay which were cut and baled from the same stand of grass.

SCS

W. G. Westbrook has experimented with several different permanent pasture grasses on his farms located near Milano. Last April, he planted forty acres of Renner Lovegrass on his place southeast of Milano. This grass was planted on deep sandy soils which were once capable of carrying only one cow per 25-3o acres.

"The sand was do deep it was almost impossible to travel across this pasture unless you were driving a vehicle with 4 wheel drive. The only plants that would grow on this land were bullnettles, grassburs and watermelons," states Westbrook.

Westbrook planted open areas and left post oak trees and yaupon motts to provide shade and winter protection for cattle.

A complete application of fertilizer was applied and weeds controlled to insure a good stand of grass, then in September, he cut and baled over 1500 bales of hay on the forty acres of lovegrass. This hay was put up in round bales weighing approximately 1800 pounds.

Westbrook has found he can depend upon Coastal bermudagrass, common bermuda, and Dallisgrass as his key summer forage producers; however, he needed a grass which would provide him additional grazing during the winter and early spring.

Westbrook feels like the Renner Lovegrass will fit into his livestock operation because of its ability to cure out a good quality winter forage and green up earlier than most pasture grasses in this area. By utilizing the lovegrass for winter and early spring grazing, he will lower haying costs and at the same time grow high uality forage on land which was once considered useless to his livestock operation.

Adversity Resistance Of SP Cottons Benefits Growers

A scientist's effort toimprove plant vigor by building "adversity resistance" into three new cotton varieties has resulted in earlier harvests and higher yields for many Texas producers this season.

His Tamcot SP cottons -- SP 37, SP21 and SP23 -- are storm and multi-disease resistant as well as early maturing, characteristics that enabled growers to harvest their cotton early despite a delayed harvest in many areas.

In fact, the nation's first 1973 cotton bale was the SP 37 variety.

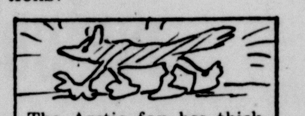

The adversity resistant SP cottons were developed by Dr. Luther Bird, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station scientist at Texas A&M University. As plant pathology professor for the past 23 years, Bird has conducted research aimed at the economic control of disease by applying genetic improvements to plant strains. Besides the SP cottons and several successful earlier varieties, Bird has exciting new strains under development that "look quite promising."

The SP cottons have received a tremendous acceptance in Texas this year, and are making a major contribution to production, said Dr. Jarvin E. Miller, Experiment Station director. Ultimately, the production benefits are passed on to consumers.

Growers along the Texas Gulf Coast feel that the SP cottons received a thorough test from adverse weather and growing conditions this year. Generally, the early maturing characteristic permitted the varieties to be harvested ahead of rains which hampered harvests in many regions.

"We must have these Tamcot SP cottons or be forced out of business by unfavorable weather," declared Henry Smith, veteran county Extension agent at Wharton. Dan Pawlik, county agent for San Patricio and Aransas Counties, and other agents and producers echoed Smith's enthusiam.

Introduced commercially last year for the first time, the Tamcot SP cottons have been a bonanza to producers who have been plagued by unfavorable growing conditions.

Cattle Sales Planned At Fat Stock Show

Five breeding cattle sales, the annual Quarter Horse Sale, and auctions of champion steers, barrows and lambs will highlight the 1974 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show Jan. 25 through Feb. 3, reports W. R. Watt Jr., general manager.

"Stock Show cattle auctions will present an excellent opportunity for ranchers, farmers and breeders to buy top quality herd foundation and replacement stock," Watt said. "Many of these auctions are once-a-year buying opportunities."

Watt reminded potential exhibitors at the 78th annual Stock Show that entry deadline is Dec. 15 for cattle, horses, sheep and swine. Entries of pigeons, rabbits and poultry should be in the Stock Show office by January 15.

Not True Any More . . . Egg Production Up and Down . . . Sheep and Lambs on Feed About Steady . . . Cattle, Calf Sales Increase.

Time was when the majority of the beef breeding herds in the state were in West Texas, but this is not true any more. Almost 60 per cent of the Texas beef breeding herd is located in the state east of a line running from Fort Worth to San Antonio and then southeast to Kleberg County.

East Texas is now the home of the biggest percentage of beef cows in the state with 21 per cent. The Blacklands are second with 16 per cent followed closely by south central and coastal bend areas with 15 per cent; the Valley and South Texas account for 11 per cent. The West Texas areas, where at one time the big cattle herds roamed, account for barely 30 per cent of the state's beef breeding herd.

EGG production in Texas during October, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes, is two per cent below a year ago but four per cent above last month.

Nationwide, production was up four per cent from September.

Texas layers totaled 11,200,000 (not quite as many as the human population); this is up one per cent from a month earlier. Texas eggs laid daily per 100 hens averaged 58.6 compared with 61.2 on the national level.

The October hatch of egg-type chickens in Texas is up two per cent from a month ago. The hatch of broiler chicks is one per cent less than a month ago.

The turkey poult hatch was seven per cent above a month ago.

Nationwide, egg-type chicks hatched are up seven per cent over the previous month, broiler-type chicks are up one per cent from a month ago, and turkey poults are five per cent higher than a month ago.

ONLY a one per cent decline in the number of sheep and lambs on feed in Texas is noted during November. Texas sheep and lambs on feed as of Nov. 1 totaled 209,000 head.

Sheep and lambs placed on feed during September and October totaled 197,000 head, up nine per cent from a year ago. Marketings of feed sheep during this period totaled 129,000 head, down nine per cent from a year ago.

SALES of cattle and calves in Texas during October are 26 per cent above a month ago. Sales of sheep are 41 per cent above a month ago and sales of goats are 36 per cent below last month.

Cattle and calves marketed through auctions in the state during October totaled 760,000 head, down six per cent from a year ago, and 26 per cent above a month ago.

Sheep sales totaled 106,000, up four per cent above a year ago and 41 per cent above a month ago.

Goat sales totaled 21,000, or 43 per cent below last year and 36 per cent below last month.

Hogs sold during October at 48,000 head were seven per cent above a year ago and 30 per cent above last month.

Farmers 'Victimized' Says Rep. Kubiak About Diesel

Texas farmers who depend on diesel fuel are being victimized by both the major oil companies and a handful of government officials who refuse to cope with the energy crisis in a forthright, sensible manner, Rep. Dan Kubiak said this week.

In his newsletter, Kubiak said the result is that not only are our farmers going broke but the nation's immediate future supplies of food and fiber are in jeopardy -- a situation which in coming days will lead to further hardships and more inflation.

"There is no excuse for our tractors sitting idle in the fields while fuel sits unsold in the tanks of major oil companies," Kubiak said.

He noted that a month ago the Department of the Interior announced that agricultural uses of diesel fuel would be exempted from mandatory allocations for 60 days.

"The Interior Dep. said its announcement would be put into effect by its regional office in Houston with administrative help of the Texas Railroad Commission," he continued. "Then nothing happened. At first we were told the necessary paperwork was taking time.

"An advisory notice implementing Interior's exemption allegedly was issued Nov. 15, but if it was it never reached the distributors who have fuel on hand and could sell it."

Kubiak said the onus is now on the Railroad Commission. He said it should be a "simple matter" for the Commission to get the fuel turned loose.

"It is in the hands of the people to judge, and the hands of the Railroad Commission and Interior Department to decide, where the buck stops and the footdragging starts," he said. "In the meantime, we the people are the victimes."

Congo Republic Hopes To Develop Attractions

By Francois Gakosso

BRAZZAVILLE

Reuter -- Great rushing rivers, vast forests, abundant African wildlife and sandy ocean beaches are among the natural resources the Congo republic hopes to develope as major tourist attractions.

And studies by five expert missions have encouraged officials of this equatorial African country's tourism department in the belief that it can be done.

The missions -- Italian, Bulgarian, Canadian, from the World Bank and the "hot afric" Company -- made on-the-spot studies of the potential for international tourism.

Resources and sites already studied or about to be showed promise for hunting and fishing as well as sightseeing and other forms of vacations.

With adequate development, it is felt that these sites could rival established tourist and hunting centers in such countries as Kenya, Tanzania and Senegal.

The Canadian, Italian and Bulgarian reports underlined the natural beauties of the area around Pointe-Noire, a port city on the Atlantic Ocean, sited on a great bay called the Loango and boardered by the ramparts of the Mayombe forest, one of the biggest in the world.

The terrain and geography here offer considerable potential advantages. Hotels built on the bay could have magnificent views on both the ocean and the coast. And there are lagoons which could be developed as vacation sites.

A comparison was made of this coastal area with African resort centers which already exert a powerful attraction for foreign tourists, such as Mombasa in Kenya, Dar es Salaam in Tanzania and Kribi in Cameroun. It was found that in terms of climate, sunshine and rainfall, quality of sand and water, the bay offers similar conditions to such existing centers.

Other sites which could become tourist attractions include the Congo River cataracts near Brazzaville, Mbamou Island in the same river between Brazzaville and Kinshasa, capital of neighbouring Zaire, Lac Bleu (Blue Lake) in the north and the waterfall in the Foulakari River.

With a dense river network, the Congo offers vast possibilities for river fishing. Exciting catches for sportsmen include the "Benga" or dogfish, and the "capitaine" -- both carnivourous fish weighing between 65 and 130 pounds -- and a white, well-fleshed catfish, all big combative fish.

For hunting and sightseeing, the Congo has vast game reserves and national parks covering some 100,000 in the west, center and north of the country, although their distrance from urban centers may explain the lack of a tourist development policy in these areas in the past.

Congolese authorities are now looking to the construction, with help from an Italian firm, of rest and lodging stations in these areas.

The Congo's long-term planning, for the period to 1980, envisages studies for overall development of tourism and hunting as well as of the market, training of staff, with the creation of a hotel school, and development of a policy encouraging Congolese artists and artisans.

To keep them faithful, Grecian husbands made their wives eat onions before they left home.

SHOPLIFTING

Stores lost $6 billion last year to shoplifters, light-fingered employees and other crooks. Shoplifting is at an all-time high with one of every 10 customers a shoplifter, says Lillian Cochran, home management, specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Sewing Techniques For New Silk-Like Synthetics

COLLEGE STATION

Homesewers accustomed to working with natural fiber fabrics may have to make some slight changes in sewing techniques for the new, silk-like synthetics.

This word comes from Mrs. Vivian Simmons, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"For best results, select patterns with a minimum number of seams and no top-stitching.

"Also avoid patterns with center front and center back seams."

Most of the problems arise from sewing techniques rather than the fabric

"Improper techniques cause seam puckering that pressing won't correct."

Several factors play important roles in producing a pucker-free seam, Mrs. Simmons said.

"For one, use a size 11 sewing needle.

"Also utilize a throat-plate with a small round hole, only slightly larger than the needle. A wide oval used for zigzagging may cause puckering.

"A stitch length of 10-12 sewing stitches per inch proves satisfactory for most woven fabrics.

"Apply a little tension to the fabric during sewing--both behind and in front of the needle -- to reduce puckering.

"And finally, sew at a moderate, even pace with few stops a starts."

After constructing the garment, remember that correct pressing techniques flatten seams to give a finished, professionally made look. However, pressing silk like synthetics requres special attention, the specialist added.

Special attention consists of:

--using a low wool setting with steam

--Steam ironing both sides of an unopened "as sewn" seam to remove puckers

--steam ironing the seam open, and

--letting the fabric cool several seconds before removing it from the ironing board.

Electricity. Still one of the biggest bargains in your budget.

Sharply rising costs of producing electricity have forced Texas Power & Light Company to ask for an increase in rates to be effective in March of next year.

Even with the proposed rate increase, we think electricity will still meet the "Bargain Test."

A bargain must fill some want or need of the purchaser. Its cost must be balanced with its benefits.

Electricity fills lots of wants and needs. Heating. Cooling. Lighting. Cooking. Washing. Drying. Ironing. And many more.

Cost, of course, is the final measure of any bargain and you must balance your cost of electricity with its benefits. Start with the fact that the average price of each kilowatt-hour of TP&L electricity used in the home today is about one-half what it was in 1952. Consider, too, the many ways and the many hours electricity serves you.

We believe you will still "add up" electricity as one of the biggest bargains in your budget.

Selective Service Answers

Colonel Melvin N. Glantz, the State Director of Selective Service for Texas, has released a list of questions and answers selected from the most asked questions about Selective Service.

Have inductions stopped? Yes! On July 1, 1973 inductions stopped. The Law still requires young men to register at age 18 and be classified.

What are my responsibilities? Under the Law, you must register with Selective Service within the 60 day period commencing 30 days before your 18th birthday, and you must tell your local board when you change address.

What will happen after I register? You will be classified 1-H and your file will be placed in a holding category until the calendar year in which you reach age 19. A national lottery drawing will be conductd early in that calendar year to determine your lottery number.

What does my lottery number mean to me? It tells you where you stand in the order of call for men in your own year group.

What happens next? After the lottery drawing for your age group, Selective Service establishes a 1-H cutoff number. If you have a lottery number above the cutoff, you will remain in Class 1-H and will not be subject to further processing unless there is a major mobilization.

What if I have a lottery number at the cutoff or below? You will be considered for reclassification by your local board as available for induction and, unless deferred or exempted, you will "stand ready" for induction during the calendar year of your 20th birthday, which is your prime year of vulnerability to the draft.

Can I apply for a conscientious objector classification? Yes. If you have a lottery number at the 1-H Cutoff or below, you may apply for conscientious objector classification which is either 1-A-0 or 1-O

Will I be given a preinduction examination? Registrants are not being given preinduction examinations at this time. However, if examinations are re umed, those registrants below the 1-H Cutoff number will be examined, with those found to be qualified remaining in Class 1-A and those found to be not qualified being reclassified into Class 4-F. Qualified registrants may be considered for deferred or exempt classifications.

No Wood To Be Cut In Parks

Visitors at Corps of Engineers lakes in Texas have been cautioned not to cut their firewood from trees around the lakes.

Colonel Floyd H. Henk, District Engineer of the Fort Worth District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers is urging the public to seek firewood other than on reservoir lands.

Colonel Henk saib that due to the recreational nature of the Corps of Engineers water projects, and to the small amount of suitable lands for this practice, free firewood will not be available at Fort Worth projects. The vast majority of project lands are in park areas or natural and wildlife areas. Some people, rather than cutting the dead or down trees, will cut the large oak trees, thereby degrading the aesthetic beauty and environmental quality of the recreational site.

Unauthorized or illegal tree cutting, for any reason, is prohibited under Titles 18 and 36 of the U.S. Code. These laws, in part, state that: "Whoever unlawfully cuts or wantonly injures or destroys any tree growing, standing, or being upon any land of the United States which . . . has been reserved or purchased by the United States for any public use . . . shall be fined not more than $1000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both."

Zolio Diaz of Spain rolled a hoop 600 miles from Miere to Madrid and back again in 18 days, a record roll.

Lillies Clog Floating Gardens

By Ernesto Mendoza

MEXICO CITY

Reuter--Millions of water lilies are choking tourism in the floating gardens of Xochimilco.

Flower boats carrying tourists and souvenir vendors still glide through the placid waters of the sun-lit canals, one of Mexico's major tourist attractions just outside the capital.

Gaily-dressed "Mariachi" musicians sing serenades under the willow trees

But the leisurely trip down the winding waterways is getting shorter and shorter.

Green masses of water lilies block the way and threaten to put 5,000 boatmen out of work.

The navigable stretch which was nine miles long early this year has shrunk to four miles.

The union of boat owners of Xochimilco sends out 10 men each day to try and clean up the waterways.

But they are fighting a losing battle against the water lilies which multiply like bacteria.

Boatmen say it would take at least 300 men working for a whole month to clear the waterways.

At the moment, the most beautiful stretches of the canals are unreachable and the boats get snarled in traffic jams, especially on Sundays when hordes of Mexicans descend on Xochimilco for picnics.

Sanitary and garbage disposal facilities in Xochimilco have also proved inadequate for the flow of tourists many of whom bring packed lunches.

An old Indian settlement, Xochimilco, which is about 35 miles from Mexico City, has long drawn Mexicans and foreign tourists alike.

The "floating gardens" were originally large rafts with a thin layer of dirt planted with flowers and vegetables.

Today all the old rafts are firmly rooted to the bottom of Lake Xochimilco and the area now consists of canals cutting through islands on which flowers and vegetables are grown for Mexico City.

While Xochimilco fights an uphill battle against nature, Mexican developers are looking south to build new tourist attractions.

On the island of Cancun, the government is seeking to convert a desert 14 miles stretch of gleaming white beach and a blue lagoon into a thriving resort washed by the Caribbean.

Situated at the northeastern tip of the Yucatan peninsula, Cancun is not so much an island as a long, thin curved spit linked to the mainland at both ends.

THE RIGHT ONE

Barbie has a boy friend—her first! There'll be many more.

But someday Barbie will have a boy friend—her last! And there'll be an engagement, and a wedding, and a wonderful life together with their children . . .

If he's THE RIGHT ONE!

Barbie's present boy friend is being brought up the way Barbie is—in fact, they met at Sunday School! Their families worship regularly . . . they seek the same moral and spiritual aims.

But, what about THE RIGHT ONE? Is this fiance-to-be receiving the same sound preparation for tomorrow? Are his parents building the future on the firm foundation of religious faith? Will he be right for Barbie?

The church bells that ring every Sunday are not wedding bells. But they sound the destiny of our sons and daughters . . . and of their families yet unborn.

The tournament was won by Hearne, second place went to Rockdale, and La Grange wealked away with consolation honors:

In other action, the Yoe J. V. battled the Temple J. V. in Temple, last Friday night. Cameron suffered a 73-45 loss to a powerful Wildcat team. Obra Henry was the high point man for Cameron, and Hawk led Temple with 24 points.

Also scoring for the Yoemen were: Dennis Hollas with 8 points, Joey Mondrik 6, James Walker 5, Joe Smitherman 4, and Butler, Kornegay, and Goeke with 1 point each.

Defensively the Yoemen were led by Dennis Hollas, but still the Yoe five could not overpower the Wildcats.

The J.V. season record now stands at 2-2, and the varsity has compiled a 5-1 record.

Panfish Chowder

Just like the adage that "there is more than one way to skin a cat," there also is more than one way to cook fish.

While the time-honored recipe of skillet, bacon drippings and corn meal is certainly worthy of anyone's interest, it never hurts to create other equally tasty fish dishes. One such gourmet treat that is favored by Mercury outboards' fishing experts is panfish chowder. It's easy to make, and calls for fish that can be caught in almost any part of the country. Crappie, sunfish, perch and other equally abundant fish are the main ingredients. Here's how to make panfish chowder.

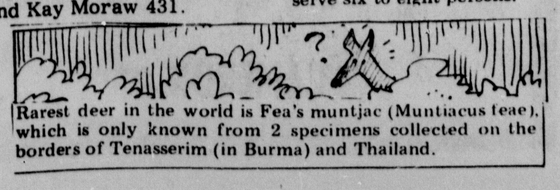

Place six to eight pounds of cleaned fish in a pot and cover with cold water. To this add:

- 1 stalk minced celery
- 2 chopped onions
- 1 bayleaf
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 4 cracked peppercorns

Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer five minutes. Strain broth into a saucepan, add three potatoes (peeled and sliced) and bring to a boil.

While potatoes cook, remove skin from fish and flake the flesh from the bones. Dice two slices of fat bacon, saute until crisp. When potatoes become tender add the bacon, fish, 2½ cups milk, and one cup evaporated milk (or heavy cream). Include the fat from the skillet in which bacon was fried.

When the pot is simmering again, remove from heat and serve chowder with crackers. The Mercury staff suggests that this recipe is enough to serve six to eight persons.

Rarest deer in the world is Fea's muntjac (Muntiacus feae), which is only known from 2 specimens collected on the borders of Tenasserim (in Burma) and Thailand.

Poachers Pay For Mistakes

Some poachers in Jack county paid dearly for a slight miscalculation. Game Warden J. C. Romines saw the three men kill a buck out of season in a grain field just outside of Jacksboro. He arrested the poachers, took them before the local magistrate and released them after they were fined.

Then Romines and a deputy sheriff went to the city lake to dress the buck before turning it over to a charitable organization. While they were dressing the deer, they heard a shot. Upon investigation, Romines found two of the three men he had released 30 minutes before with a freshly killed doe deer.

Romines said the men were surprised to see him there. They figured he would be disposing of the deer in some other section of the county.

The men were taken before the same magistrate who was less than pleased at seeing them again. Fines for the day totaled $625, and one man had to spend the night in jail because he could not raise the fine the second time around.

QUICKIES

Aggies carried away with fact 10 of 11 defensive starters against Texas return, should look at other side of that coin. Darrell Royal has eight of 11 offensive starters back, including his entire backfield. And, that UT offense rolled over the Aggies' League-leading defense for 376 yards and 42 points . . . Also, Texas has six defensive starters returning. Fourteen of 22 veterans from a championship team does not indicate a Burnt Orange nosedive in '74.

Texas A&M has had severe quarterback problems ever since Edd Hargett finished in '68, but that won't be true for three more years. David Walker, the 17-year old who replaced the Marines at mid-season, has it all: Poise, speed, running ability and a super passing arm. The Sulphur, Louisiana Waterbug is the kind LSU has built a great reputation around. Charley Mac's got to cry everytime David lines up against the Bayou Tigers.

Some laughed in 1970 when an old Doak Walker teammate compared Tech Frosh Quarterback Joe Barnes to the SMU Doaker because of his ghost-like moves. Well, they're not laughing now. Certainly not at arkansas, or Texas. "I don't know how he does it," said Razorback Linebacking Super Danny Rhodes. "We had Barnes trapped several times and he ran right through us." Texas players said same after Barnes ate 'em up on busted pass patterns. In fact, the All-SWC Tech QB was the most deceptive runner in the league.

Baylor, poor Baylor, really, is more talented this time around than in '72 when the Bears were the darlings of the Southwest. But, Grant Teaff's Green and Gold just learned some cold, hard facts of collegiate football.

First, that it is harder to stay, than it is to get into the limelight. And, another thing the Waco Baptists have certainly learned, is to say nothing about yourself and if someone else says it: Deny it. Too many SWC Championship predictions emanated on the Baylor Campus for the Bears to slip up on anybody.

Save the Sauce for Cooking Your Game

The hunting trip—out at the camp with the boys—is not the time for a few friendly drinks, says the Texas Safety Association.

Drinking before heading for the field will rob valuable alertness and dexterity; vision becomes less accurate, and the exhilaration of the hunt can become more important than watching where a gun barrel is pointed, reminds TSA.

Get plenty of rest. Never hunt when groggy. And, never drink in the field. Instead, save the sauce for cooking the game or a celebration after the hunt, adds TSA.

Rebels Win Victory In Powderpuff Game

The Sophomores and Seniors defeated the Freshmen and Juniors 20-14, in the annual Powder Puff football game at Yoe Field last Friday night. The game was thrown into overtime action, as the score was tied at 14-14 at the end of four quarters of play.

The Sophomores and Seniors, known as the Rambling Rebels, were guided to victory by the running of Rosemary Eichenhorst, and the Daring Dillingers (Juniors and Freshmen) were led by the ball carrying of Minnie Ellison. Eichenhorst scored all three of the Rebels touchdowns on runs of 30, 60 and 46 yards. Ellison also scored all of the touchdowns for the Dillingers on runs of 22 and 29 yards.

The Dillingers completely dominated the first half action, but the rebels played an outstanding second half.

Statistics for the game show: 10 first downs for the Rebels, and 12 for the Dillingers, 201 yards rushing for the Rebels and 194 for the Dillingers, 0 yards passing for the Rebels and 15 for the Dillingers, 12 penalties for 140 yards for the Rebels and 7 for 85 for the Dillingers, and 1 punt for 30 yards for the Rebels and no punts for the Dillingers.

Coach Names Lettermen

Coach Ed Cauley released the list of the 1973 lettermen for the Yoe High football team. The list includes the names of 6 sophomores, 9 juniors and 13 seniors, who will be missed greatly on next years football team.

Sophomores lettering one year are: Bernard Tepera, Joe Smitherman, Jafus White, Ronnie Bennett, Mike White, and Brian Cobb.

Junior 2 year letterman are: Gene Kopriva, Bruce Zarosky, Mike Mueck, and Gary Trdy.

Those lettering 1 year are Jeff Smitherman, Willie Bell, Ricky Kelley, Harry Brooks, and Gary Hornung.

Seniors George Whiteside and Paul Vaculin are listed as 3 year lettermen and Senior Ernie DeLa Rosa is a 2 year letterman.

Research Underway On Nitrate Fertilizer

Obtaining maximum crop benefits while keeping nitrates from entering domestic water supplies are goals of research underway on nitrogen fertilizer sources by a Texas Agricultural Experiment Station scientist here.

Dr. Allen R. Swoboda, TAES researcher and a member of Texas A&M University's Soil and Crop Sciences Department, said a current three-year research project is designed to develop practical farming methods which reduce the amount of nitrate lost from the soil by leaching and runoff.

Additionally, Swoboda's research is designed to determine the amount of nitrate lost from the soil under various controlled environmental conditions.

Joe L. Vybiral, of the U. S. Army Reserve in Austin, was commended in a letter from the commanding general of the U. S. Army Reserve presented at a special ceremony in Austin, attended by his wife and children.

The letter commended him for "outstanding performance rating for the period 25 May 1972 through 25 May 1973.

"During this period Mr. Vybiral has performed his duties of Unit Aide (ART) in a clearly outstanding manner," the letter continued. "He has constantly provided sound advice in administration supply and maintenance procedures.

"He has been extremely effective in keeping the commander informed of the unit's situation and has been the center of logistical preparation for annual training. Mr. Vybiral has proven himself to be a valuable asset to both his unit and the entire United States Army Reserve Program."

Christmas Trees...

Each year about this time, some 35 million trees are cut to decorate our homes and add to our Christmas holiday pleasure. Some of you have expressed a concern over the possible damage to the ecological balance caused by cutting so many trees. So, we asked the experts.

It seems that most Christmas trees today are grown on tree plantations or farms especially for this purpose. More than 85 million trees are planted each year to replace those that are harvested. The accepted practice is to plant two or three seedlings for each tree cut to insure an adequate supply for years to come. It takes six to twelve years to grow a tree to a suitable size for harvesting.

Tree farms are often planted on ground unsuitable for other crops, so the trees prevent soil erosion while providing green belts throughout our country. Each acre of Christmas trees provides enough oxygen to supply eighteen people daily.

If you buy a cut tree this Christmas, you can sometimes judge its freshness by gently bending the needles. If they bend instead of breaking, the tree is fresh. Bounce the tree stump firmly on the ground; if there is excessive needle drop from the limbs, the tree is too dry. To help assure that the tree will stay fresh and flame resistant, cut off about 2" from the stump and mount the tree in a water holding container. Keep it damp throughout the holiday season.

Trees are biodegradable and can be used as an excellent mulch when chipped. The branches can be layered over flower beds to provide protection and act as springtime mulch. Cut up the trunk for your fireplace after removing the branches.

Today's tree growing methods assure us a continued supply of the natural, green trees we all love for Christmas, and actually aid the environment at the same time.
